

Could you spot the signs of your child being exploited?

Do they:

- receive excessive calls and texts
- become defensive when asked who it is
- leave the house immediately when contacted

Noticed changes in a child and not been able to work out what is going on? Any of these tell-tale signs could mean a child is being used by criminals or gangs.

Is your child receiving excessive phone calls and texts? Do they avoid telling you who they are from or become frustrated when you ask? Does your child regularly leave the house after receiving such calls or texts with not explanation of where they are going?

There is help out there.
