

M4 smart motorway education outreach

This month we are beginning our programme of engaging students along the route between Junctions 3 and 12. The team will be getting in touch with schools and colleges to offer information about the project for lesson planning or arrange visits to schools.

We can help local children and young people learn about civil engineering, construction, road safety, design plus more subjects that fit into the STEM (science, technology, engineering and mathematics) curriculum. We have a team of STEM ambassadors, recent graduates and apprentices who can help students explore educational and career opportunities.

If you would like to talk to us about this programme or to arrange a visit, please contact us via email:
