

Police Intelligence: Sharing your piece of the puzzle

This 90 minute interactive presentation will be delivered by the Thames Valley Police Intelligence Team. The objective of this is to improve knowledge and understanding of intelligence and information and sharing, and why it is important.

- What do we mean by intelligence?
- Why do we need it?
- What will we do with it?
- Am I breaking confidentiality?
- What if I am wrong?

Tackling all types of crime and keeping people safe requires police to know what is going on. You may be an excellent source of invaluable information and it is vital that everyone understands what information might be important, how to share and what happens with it.

This session is for all frontline staff and their managers, from statutory and voluntary organisations, who work directly with people and communities

Dates:

June 7th 2023 2pm - in person - Observatory House, Slough

July 13th 2023 1.30pm - online via Teams

To book a space, please email Helen.buckland@slough.gov.uk

Please note that a shorter version of this presentation can also be delivered directly to individual teams on request - please ask for details